Social Media Guidance

MCC Hockey Section actively uses social media to promote the section and its activities to its members, and building relationships with people and communities.

A positive social media environment will help promote the sport, raise its profile and engage with various hockey enthusiasts. It is extremely important to the section as it will help by:

- Promoting section activities and events e.g. open days, come and try sessions, training times, matches, competitions, and social occasions.
- Provide section news and updates e.g. match reports, team news, successes/achievements, and events.
- Attract and secure new sponsors or sources of funding to the section by raising the profile of these partnerships
- Communicate with section members and other hockey clubs
- Post photos and video content from matches and club events
- Provide updates of rule changes / implementation

Conversely, there are as many challenges and potential pitfalls of using social media as there are opportunities. This can be very damaging if the content is viewed negatively.

You may also think that a post, tweet, video and photo may be visible to a limited number of selected people, but often the content on social media that people believe to be visible to only a limited number of selected 'followers' still ends up in other public domains.

There have been a number of high profile examples in a sporting context where social media has been misused, including posting content or comments that are considered inappropriate, inflammatory, abusive, indecent or offensive; publishing or posting confidential information; posting content or comments that bring the 'game into disrepute' under rules and regulations and leads to disciplinary action.

MELBOURNE CRICKET CLUB HOCKEY SECTION INC

In light of the opportunities, and the potential pitfalls, of social media, the section has prepared a list of 'do's and don'ts'. Ultimately, the most practical advice is 'be sensible about what you post'.

The following list has been compiled from social media guidelines used by other sporting organisations:

Do's

- Be authentic, natural, personable and insightful.
- Use tasteful humour when appropriate.
- Do engage with other players / section members.
- Do pause and think about what you are saying. Engage your brain before you type and think about the impact of what you say.
- Do be careful, respectful and positive. You are personally responsible for what you post. If in doubt, don't post it.
- Do think about your image – 'what do I want people to think about me or my club?'
- Do consider who you are interacting with – you will likely come into contact online with under 18s. Familiarise yourself with child protection guidelines and policies in relation to engaging with under 18s.
- Be smart about protecting yourself, your privacy, and confidential information. What you publish is widely accessible and will be around for a long time, so consider the content carefully.
- Be aware of imposters.

Don'ts

- Don't post content that discriminates against individuals or groups on the basis of age, disability, gender, pregnancy & maternity, race, religion or belief, sexual orientation.
- Don't write anything on social media channels that you wouldn't feel comfortable seeing in a newspaper or hearing on TV. Everything you write is treated as a direct quote from you i.e. 'Don't tweet what you wouldn't say to your mum/gran'
- Don't speak negatively about team mates, section members, competitors, officials or governing bodies. Never use slurs, personal insults or obscenity. Be respectful.
- Don't engage in on-line disputes and don't allow family or friends to argue on your behalf.
- Don't post pictures or statements that are not in keeping with the conduct and ethics of the section

If any section member or other person connected to the section either directly or indirectly feels that any social media posting on MCC Hockey Section forums falls below the standards set by the section, they are encouraged to bring this to the notice of the Committee.
